No. 32.

Cold Storage Completed

The big cold storage plant of the Berryville Ice and Refrigerating Company is now practically completed, the installation of the electric elevator and a few finishing touches being all that is necessary.

The structure is three stories in height and will have a capacity of more than 5,000 barrels of apples, which will be the principal source of revenue during the winter months.

The walls, 19 inches in thickness, are made up of two thicknesses of lumber, then pulverized cork, then cork board, then ceiling. Between the two outer sheets of lumber is a lining of heavy paper.

The building is thus air-tight and sound-proof, it being almost impossible to hear the noise of passing trains on the Norfolk & Western tracks only a few feet distant from the building.

The first floor, which has a three-foot concrete floor, concrete walls and ceiling, all over the cork lining, will be used in the spring and early summer (after the apple crop has been sold and removed) for the storing of ice for use in icing cars for the big Swift Company whose patronage has been an immense item during the past summer and promises to be even greater next year.

The company will thus have a storage capacity for over 400 tons of ice on which to start the season, and, with the plant producing approximately ten tons daily, will give a large volume of ice for the Swift trade and other local business.

The equipment of the cold storage plant has been done by the Frick Company, one of the foremost makers of ice and refrigerating machinery.

The electric elevator will be installed by the Otis Elevator Company, who are famous for their machinery of that class.

The elevator will have a speed and carrying capacity which will permit of the loading of a carload of apples in less than thirty minutes.

The cement and concrete work on the plant has been done by Royston & Brockdorff, the new local firm.

The wood work and construction of the plant has been done by John H. Shackelford, the well-known local builder, and General Manager Lewis speaks in the highest terms of the work in every detail.

There is no plant in this entire section of the country which can compare in up-to-date equipment or size with the plant just completed here, and it speaks in high terms of the business ability and hustle of our local business men.

A few years ago, when Mr. W. T. Lewis first projected the erection of an ice plant here, he did not secure much encouragement from the local men who had money to invest. Some of those who originally agreed to go into the company were induced to drop out by the adverse comment and statements to the effect that there was not enough ice business here to take the output. At that time the idea was to construct a five-ton plant.

But Mr. Lewis kept "plugging" along. He had the right idea and the courage of his convictions. In talking with the COURIER man, after many disappointments, he said:

"To secure the aid and co-operation of even the poorest of our business men, I propose to make the par value of the company's stock only $50. If we cannot get the stock subscribed by men of large means, it will be subscribed by men of small means and even men who work on a salary. Failure thus far has determined me to go ahead, for the investigations I have made have convinced me that we can sell every pound of five tons of ice each day."

Finally the necessary stock was subscribed and plans were drawn, which were afterward increased in size to double the capacity of the originally-projected plant, and the plant first started was capable of making approximately ten tons of ice per day.

Every pound of ice manufactured has been sold, much of it being contracted for weeks ahead, and dozens of carloads have been purchased from Hagerstown and

Charles Town plants in order that no customer might be disappointed. That has been the motto of the plant from the very first, "Go to any expense or trouble in order that no customer may feel slighted or be disappointed."

The great strides in the fruit-growing industry in this section determined the company to erect a cold-storage plant, and the structure just now completed is the result.

The history of the ice company and its successor, the Berryville Ice and Refrigerating Company, has been one of success from the beginning, and the officers and stockholders of the company feel that their success in great measure is due to the hustling ability and non-discouragement of General Manager Lewis, as well as the efficient and painstaking care of Chief Engineer Galloway at the plant and every employee of the company in their various capacities.

The company has not reached its zenith by any means. We predict that it has barely touched the edge of the business which will come to it in the next few years. And we shall be much surprised if it is not found necessary within a year to increase the capacity of the ice-making machinery and add to the size of the cold-storage plant.

Already large contracts have been made for space for apples this season, one big fruit-dealer having contracted for space for 1,000 barrels.

Those who desire space this winter will do well to speak, in order that they be not disappointed by delay.

Sergeant Taylor Dead.

City Sergeant William Taylor died at his home in Winchester last Friday afternoon, following an attack of acute indigestion which weakened his heart to such an extent that he collapsed.

He had complained of feeling ill at his office, was taken to the office of Dr. W. A. Bell, where stimulants were administered. Dr. Bell then took him home in his buggy, but Sergeant Taylor collapsed as he was being taken into the house, and died in a few moments.

He was one of the most intelligent and successful officers who have represented the city of Winchester, and was intimately known to many people throughout Clarke county, to whom the notice of his death came as a sudden shock.

Stevens-McDonald.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Grace Episcopal Church last evening at 8 p. m., when Miss Mary Green McDonald, daughter of Mrs. William N. McDonald, became the bride of Mr. Bayard Stevens, son of Col. Edwin Stevens, of "Castle Point" Hoboken N. J.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward Wall, assisted by an uncle of the bride, Rev. Arthur Gray, of Westmoreland county.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns, the color scheme being green and white. The bride, who wore a draped gown of white satin, trimmed in pearls and real lace, with a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms, was given away by her brother, Mr. Hugh M. McDonald, of Gloversville, N. Y. She wore diamonds and rubies and carried orchids and lilies of the valley. Mr. Basil M. Stevens, brother of the groom was best man. Mrs. Nannie Eustaphie, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore a gown of yellow crepe meteor. The bride's maids who were Misses Katherine Powell McDonald, Ellen Douglas Gray, Eleanor Lee Potts and Elvira Daniel Moore, wore gowns of white messaline and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The ushers were Messrs. Lewis Stevens, Lambert Riley, Richard Gordon, Harry Norris, of New York, Beverly Ober, of Baltimore, and John Parish of Richmond.

Selections on the violin were rendered before and during the ceremony, by Miss Sanford McDonald Norris, of Baltimore, accompanied by Miss Jane Moore, who rendered wedding marches. After the wedding a large reception was held at the home of the bride, after which the couple left for an extended southern tour.

Court Asked to Set Aside Verdict.

At the special term of Circuit Court last Saturday, Judge Harrison heard arguments on a motion to set aside the verdict in the case of Ford vs. Warthen.

Mr. Moore, for the defendant, presented an able argument in behalf of the contention that the verdict should be set aside and a new trial ordered, and cited many cases from the Supreme Courts of Virginia and other States which seemed to bear out his contention.

Mr. McCormick, for the plaintiff, opposed the motion with vigor, and urged the court not to go behind the verdict of the jury; arguing the jury had weighed all the evidence with care and arrived at a proper verdict.

Judge Harrison heard the arguments with the closest interest, and several times interrupted to ask questions concerning matters which they had not made entirely clear.

He announced that he would consider the matter with care, and would hand down an opinion in the case in a few days.

A number of Chancery cases were taken up for orders and continuances.

Rev. Samuel Knox Phillips, the newly-installed pastor of the Presbyterian Churches at Berryville, Stone's Chapel and Clearbrook, appeared in court and was granted a license. He is now fully authorized to celebrate the marriage ceremony.
